

Have a safe and happy holiday!

Our shortened week was full of fun and learning! We reviewed all that we have learned so far; we have learned so much. Everyone is doing a wonderful job working hard and learning so much! I am so proud off all of them. Keep practicing at home: letter recognition by sight and sound, pointing to words as you read them, sound spelling, counting to 100, writing numbers 0 to 15 and anything else that you can think of.

Pajama day, the “p” picnic, and the turkey trot were a great way to end our week and begin our time off with our family. I loved all of the fun pajamas, and boy, were we comfortable! There was lots of food items that start with “p”; see how many your child can name for you and ask which their favorite was. I liked them all, but the cheese puff and corn and the pigs in a blanket was right at the top of the list. The turkey trot was awesome. We walked down to the WCHS track and walked 4 laps to equal 1 mile. Many of the WC football players came out to high five the children; the children thought this was way cool! We are all so proud of our football team who are headed to the 3rd round of Regional playoffs at Handley this weekend! GO WILDCATS!!!!

Have a fabulous holiday! Eat lots of turkey and pumpkin pie, or if you are like me, you will over indulge on the mashed potatoes and gravy! Have fun shopping on Friday or sleeping in whichever is your preference. Most of all enjoy your family and friends! I am very thankful for the privilege of teaching your little ones and sharing this experience with each of you.

Happy Thanksgiving!!!!

See you on Monday!!!!
